

2015 Promis

The proprietary name Promis (pronounced proh-MEESS) was created by the Gaja family to denote commitment, expectation, fulfillment, and hope. The promise of quality and the reward of diligence and excellence. The grapes are grown in the terre brune (rich, dark soils) which consist primarily of loam and clay. The climate - hot summer days, freshened by brisk sea air and cool nights - is ideal for the grapes grown here. Juiciness and concentration are the features of the 2015 vintage which shows elegance and drinkability.

Appellation:	Toscana IGT
Varietals:	55% Merlot, 35% Syrah, 10% Sangiovese
Color:	Deep garnet color
Aroma:	The nose is rich with notes of licorice, sage and thyme. Its specific Mediterranean character is balanced with intense aromas of well-ripe small dark berries.
Taste:	A medium bodied wine with silky tannins and refreshing acidity. It opens with sweet and juicy notes of blackberry and black cherry, and then it finishes with pleasant salinity and a hint of savory.
Fermentation:	The three varieties are fermented separately, around 15 days.
Aging:	Aged in slightly used barriques for 12 months followed by several months of bottle aging before release.

Features

- The Ca'Marcanda winery is the only winery from the GAJA family that was designed and built from the ground up with Angelo Gaja's vision and lifetime of experience.
- Promis offers the elegance and suppleness of Merlot and Syrah, complemented by the vibrant structure of Sangiovese, Tuscany's emblematic grape.
- This wine drinks well at an early age.

Benefits

- The layout and design of the winery allow for the precision necessary to craft exceptional wines, albeit with minimal intervention.
- Promis provides an excellent entry point to Angelo Gaja's Super Tuscans wines.
- As a wine that drinks well in its youth, this is a perfect by-the-glass offering.
