2014 Chianti Classico Riserva di Famiglia DOCG

Established in 1893, Cecchi (pronounced check-ee) is one of the most prominent and established producers in Tuscany, pioneering the growth and development of the Sangiovese grape worldwide. Cecchi embodies Tuscan authenticity with an emphasis on innovation and sustainability, crafting wines that showcase the pure expressions of the family's historic vineyards.

The Cecchi Chianti Classico Riserva di Famiglia is the wine most representative of the Cecchi family's winemaking philosophy of showcasing purity and quality of the Sangiovese grape, and only produced in the best vintage years.

Appellation: Chianti Classico DOCG

Varietals: 90% Sangiovese, 10% other red varietals

Color: Intense ruby red

Aroma: Broad and ethereal notes of ripe fruit and spices

Taste: Elegant and refined with flavors of raspberry, currants, earth and ripe red fruit. Luscious tannins.

Vineyards: Middle Dough alkaline soil composition. Elevation of 250 meters.

Aging: 12 months in oak casks, minimum three months in bottle before release

Features and Benefits:

- Authenticity: Founded in 1893, Cecchi is still family-owned and operated more than 120 years later by brothers Cesare and Andrea Cecchi, 4th generation wine producers.
- Quality: The grapes for the Riserva di Famiglia are all estate grown, produced, aged and bottled. The level of quality is paramount as this is the wine most representative of the Cecchi family.
- Innovation: The Cecchi family has evolved its standards of quality to the highest level, investing in important sustainability initiatives in the vineyards and unparalleled technology at the wineries.
- Accolades: 91 points from Wine Spectator (2013v), 92 points from Wine Advocate (2013v), 94 points from James Suckling (2013v)
