

TERLATO

FAMILY VINEYARDS

2012 GALAXY Blanc

GALAXY Blanc combines the winemaking expertise behind Terlato Family Vineyards. Like the Galaxy Red, this wine is all about winemaker collaboration. This time the collaboration is between Bryan Parker, Steve Fennell and Elizabeth Vianna. Each winemaker brings their most powerful and concentrated white wine to the blending table and vies for top billing in the blend. Steve brings his aromatic and rich Viognier from the Santa Rita Hills, Bryan brings his elegant and ageworthy Chardonnay from Russian River Valley and Elizabeth contributes a splash of bright and citrusy Sauvignon Blanc from Napa Valley

- Appellation: Napa Valley, Russian River Valley and Santa Rita Hills
- Varietals: 50% Viognier, 45% Chardonnay and 5% Sauvignon Blanc
- Color: Medium Straw
- Aroma: Intriguing aromas of stone fruit, vanilla custard, with hints of floral and honey
- Taste: This blend shows lush fruit at the front pallet followed by rich, and textured mid-palate which is followed by a delicate and long finish. This wine has a magical combination of finesse and weight which will delight your senses. The aromatics of each grape show their voices clearly, but they are beautifully integrated.
- Fermentation: Each component was barrel fermented separately and blended after six months.
- Aging: Nine months total barrel ageing in French Oak.
- Grapes Picked: September 2012
- Alcohol: 14.2%
- Bottled: June 2013
